

Alfred Johnson is the Director of the Wisconsin Bureau of Assisted Living. As director, he oversees an assisted living oversight program that licenses, certifies and inspects over 4,000 assisted living programs in the state of Wisconsin. Alfred has been instrumental in establishing collaborative statewide and nationwide working relationships with counties, care management organizations, advocates, other state regulators and industry representatives to help improve the quality of care and quality of life in assisted-living facilities.